'IF YOU BELIEVE THAT DOWNTOWN FORT LAUDERDALE IS BEST SERVED IF THE RIVERWALK PARK IS ACTIVE, PROGRAMMED AND SAFE, YOU HAVE A VESTED STAKE IN OUR MISSION.'

Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization whose charge is the programming, beautification and promotion of Riverwalk Park. Our volunteer board and our membership take time and energy to help Riverwalk "to be the catalyst in building and nurturing Riverwalk as a vibrant community connected by the New River."

What this means to us is that Riverwalk should and will advocate for and work to make the park an integral piece of Downtown Fort Lauderdale used on a daily basis by the community. We strive to help make the Riverwalk a place that is safe, active and walkable ... to ensure that the park has activities ongoing and infrastructure present that allow each member of our community to find it enjoyable.

To that end, over the past 25 years, Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale has partnered with the City of Fort Lauderdale to provide input on Downtown design guidelines, sought funding for capital improvements, and committed ourselves to park programming. We believe these steps are crucial to making the Riverwalk Park the crown jewel of Downtown Fort Lauderdale, supporting the Downtown's diverse mixed-use community of arts and entertainment establishments, business, residential, judicial, educational and marine interests.

Now, why should you join us?

If you believe that Downtown Fort Lauderdale is best served if the Riverwalk Park is active, programmed and safe, you have a vested stake in our mission. If you wish that there was more shade on the Riverwalk, and that you could purchase an ice cream treat at the park, we agree. And if you just love to attend outdoor events featuring anything from burgers to yoga, Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale makes that happen. We invest our time to try to create this environment and would appreciate your support in doing so.

Membership in Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale is a way to express your support and join us in our mission. It's easy, reasonably priced, and helps us to help you!

To join, visit www.goriverwalk.com/membership.

And WHY do we choose to commit our time and resources to Riverwalk?

Esplanade Park Along the Riverwalk Gets a Facelift

We are winding down summer and completing some much needed park upgrades. Esplanade Park will soon reopen with a fresh look, level ground, a wider view of the waterway and enhanced lighting. The grounds have been cleared of some concrete hazards, graded, resodded, pruned and thinned of some ground coverage, and mulch has been added to encourage more use. In addition, a number of new lights have been installed to increase public safety and make the park more usable in the evening.

With the much needed park upgrades and with the anticipated opening of the new addition at the Broward Center for the Performing Arts, Esplanade Park will change the face of the area. This park, used often for large and small events, is regularly booked for festivals, Museum of Discovery and Science events, runs, strolls, struts and more. Major events such as Duck Derby, Riverwalk Stone Crab and Seafood Festival and Seminole Winterfest Boat Parade are just a few of the annual events that happen in this one park. Often you will find cardio and yoga classes in the area, or exercise by Party Cycle, or stand-up paddleboarding by Riverwalk Paddleboard.

Docks on the New River bring a new means of arriving at the park during the day. Boats routinely use the docks as they enjoy the surrounding area. Downtown Himmarshee Village continues to upgrade and grow. A number of new establishments are anticipated over the next few months and we look forward to having more things for the public to do.

The Fort Lauderdale History Center is located in the area and gives you a chance to learn about the local community and our history. The facilities there hold a wealth of information and offer speakers' bureaus and other events.

The beauty of Riverwalk from Cooley Landing on the west to Riverwalk Laura Ward Park to the east, on the north side of Riverwalk, offers a variety of things to see and do — all along the New River. Beginning in the Arts and Entertainment District and continuing to the premier shopping and dining areas of Downtown, Riverwalk is definitely a means of enjoying an urban city.

Interning at Riverwalk

Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale is looking for fall and winter interns. Gain experience, add to your resumé and have fun with a great bunch of people at Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale. We would like to bring on board highly motivated, self-starting college students or high school juniors or seniors who want to acquire experience in community involvement, marketing, events and writing. improvements. Residents have stepped up to push for necessary changes to their Downtown home in several ways. For starters, the Wave Streetcar has depended greatly on the support of the new residents. Flagler Village Civic Association and Poinciana Park Civic Association both passed resolutions supporting the project and members from all three Downtown civic associations came out to speak in support of the special assessment at the Commission meetings.

Other major improvements residents have been working toward include the Las Olas Sunday Market and the Flagler Garden. The Downtown Civic Association relocated and expanded the market since becoming its new manager. This valuable amenity supplies Downtown with fresh produce from local vendors and also provides the opportunity to get together on Sundays.

The Flagler Village neighborhood has been a hotbed of civic activism the last few years as neighbors have come together through the civic association and the monthly FAT Village Art Walk. This tightly-knit community has successfully requested funds from the CRA for neighborhood improvements such as lighting, street furniture, security, marketing and signage. Also, the resident-led Flagler Village Community Garden has gained significant traction thanks to the CRA and private sponsorships.

The current development boom will bring even more neighbors to our area, making for an even more vibrant Downtown. More than 4,000 units are currently in the works to transform the area once more. The overwhelming majority of these projects will be rental, catering to the young professional demographic, which prefers walking, biking and taking transit over driving a car. These folks want a lively urban environment that affords them a variety of amenities and experiences at their fingertips.

So, what will our Downtown population be when the 2020 Census comes around? Things can change quite a bit in seven years. The development brought on by the Wave Streetcar will bring thousands of new neighbors who we can't wait to meet!

There Grows The Neighborhood

How Residents Shape Downtown

We're all familiar with the dramatic physical change Downtown has undergone these past 13 years, but there has been a transformation of a different kind that is more impactful than tons of concrete and rebar. That change is the growing residential population that has emerged in the last decade brought on by the development.

Census Tract 425, which roughly follows the same boundary as the Downtown Regional Activity Center, has shown a surge in the residential population over the years. In 2000 the Census counted 3,817 people living in Downtown. Then in the 2010 it counted 6,890, almost doubling in 10 years!

This demographic shift has greatly enabled the advancement of

No Place Like Home

After a Summer Break, We Appreciate Fort Lauderdale Even More

If you have wondered why my columns had improved so dramatically in the last two issues, I must confess I had a ghostwriter. Chamber President and CEO Dan Lindblade stepped in to give me a two-month vacation break (part of my contract when I signed on to do this). So like many of you, I have actually been away from Fort Lauderdale and spent some time in upstate New York's beautiful Lake George and Adirondack mountain region, went urban to Manhattan and Washington, D.C., and again to the mountains, in Banner Elk, N.C. I have kids of all ages and when we returned after visiting all these beautiful and exciting places, we were all unanimous in our opinion that Fort Lauderdale is a great place to live. While those other places were fun to visit, we love it here. So here are some random thoughts on what we observed in Fort Lauderdale when we got back.

All the construction projects from the new Courthouse to New River Landing to the apartment projects on Federal Highway grew quite a bit in the time we were gone. Looking forward to seeing new ones like Marina Lofts break ground soon. It is great to see this progress in building out our city's Downtown.

It is also great to see more activity on Las Olas Boulevard. As a longtime fan of Jackson's Steakhouse, it's wonderful to see Lobster Bar Sea Grille of the Buckhead Life Restaurant Group going in there. They are experienced operators and have what it takes to live up to the location's heritage. And it's nice to see that Grille 401 is continuing to do a steady business across the street. It is an equally important location for Downtown dining and drinking and we are happy that there has been some consistency in that location as well. The Downtown business lunch and happy hour favorite, YOLO, continues to do well after five years in business, which means all this new competition in the area really is good for everyone. Another relatively new addition, the Royal Pig, has a great menu and has been busy since opening. Other new entrants such as American Social and Voodka keep busy, too, bringing more life to the city's most famous Downtown retail street.

Off Las Olas in the FAT village neighborhood there is a place where the locals are on a mission: C&I Studios. From the outside, the facade of its 3,500-square foot FAT Village studio might seem unfamiliar and even intimidating to some Fort Lauderdale locals, but insiders know that with weekly events open to the public including BBQ Fridays, live local music events, movie nights, and an anchor position during the FAT Village ArtWalk,

BY KEITH COSTELLO
CHAIRMAN OF THE DOWNTOWN COUNCIL OF THE GREATER FORT LAUDERDALE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND PRESIDENT AND CEO OF BROWARD BANK OF COMMERCE

C&I Studios is the new Downtown hangout for hipsters to high-rollers, and everyone in between. On the inspiration behind these events, Josh Miller, founder of C&I Studios, explained, "Fort Lauderdale is constantly criticized for lacking local culture, or not being creative enough. We want to contribute to fixing that issue, and that's why we pack our schedule with so many local events that hopefully inspire and cultivate creativity within our city. We have made the decision to call Fort Lauderdale home, and now it's all about bringing our community together to see what a great place it is truly is."

The September calendar of events at C&I Studios includes:

- Friday, Sept. 13: BBQ Friday

Sponsored by Exposed PR and The Riverside Market, BBQ Friday is a chance to roll up the bay doors, grab a cold beer, and celebrate making it through another week. Free dogs and burgers are always provided, and the event is open to the public.

- Saturday, Sept. 14: Live at C&I Studios

A monthly live music event, this month's Live at C&I Studios features Civilian, The Careful Ones, and Keith Michaud. Cover is $6, $4 with your iPhone showing that you're a fan on Facebook.

- Saturday, Sept. 21: Movie Night

This month's movie night features "The Goonies." $1 gets you in; bring a blanket and get comfy as "The Goonies" is projected on C&I Studios 40-foot cyc wall.

- Saturday, Sept. 28: FAT Village ArtWalk

Stop by C&I Studios on the last Saturday of every month for a unique event featuring local artists, photographers, fashion designers, and musicians. Entry is free and cocktails are available.

'Brigette,' a 30-inch by 40-inch mixed media on canvas by Rosanna Saccoccio, a recipient of a South Florida Cultural Consortium Fellowship 2013.

Strength in Unity and Diversity

South Florida Cultural Consortium Collects and Shares

“They” say that Florida is the only state that the more south you go, the more north you get. True enough, when driving I-95 or Turnpike for the six or seven hours that it takes to get to Miami after crossing the Georgia border into Florida, you can feel an energy shift from the Palm Beach County line and increase as you head south. Traffic thickens, drivers seem a little more intense, and the sound and lights of urban atmosphere slowly replace the peaceful country vibe. The five counties of Martin, Palm Beach, Broward, Miami-Dade and Monroe together form a regional destination with thriving cultural segments in the southernmost state of our country, with Miami, of course, leading the way. It’s an important distinction, and becoming more so as each region develops in its own right, and as nationally, South Florida becomes more and more recognized for culture, “Heat” and beaches.

With a mission to develop cultural excellence and accessibility through collaboration among these five counties particularly, the South Florida Cultural Consortium offers the largest regional, government-sponsored artists’ awards in the United States, with $15,000 and $7,500 fellowships to resident visual and media artists. Since it was established in 1988, the consortium has awarded close to $2 million in fellowships to more than 200 artists.

Each of the five local arts agencies (agency designated by state to enhance culture) share strategies from the work in each of their communities and pool resources to initiate joint projects that take advantage of this collaboration. Theater League of South Florida, the Carbonell Awards, Florida Cultural Arts Alliance membership and Voices and Venues online newsletter are each solid projects in long-standing existence from these pooled resources.

With an annual budget of more than $350,000, managed by the fiscal agent Miami-Dade County Department of Cultural Affairs, and contributed to by each of the five, each county takes turns in chairing the initiative. At present, Michael Spring, director of Miami-Dade County Department of Cultural Affairs, is chair. “The South Florida Cultural Consortium is a powerful catalyst for the economic, social and cultural development of the region,” he said. “It also helps to focus Artist Catalina Jaramillo is a recipient of a South Florida Cultural Consortium Fellowship 2013. Through participatory installations that combine aspects of performance, video, photography and sound, she places herself in emotionally and spiritually trying states in order to overcome personal boundaries of pain and experience the transformational power of art.

national and global attention on South Florida as a unified metropolis with diverse and outstanding cultural resources.”

Every year, nearly 400 artists who live and work throughout the five counties submit their applications for consideration of this fellowship. A regional panel of experts from South Florida is convened to provide an initial review of the submissions. The regional panel forwards its recommendations to a national panel. This national panel is given the responsibility of recommending the final recipients.

The funding available from each county determines the number of awards presented within each county. The dynamics of the panel shape the selections from year to year. Merit is determined based on individual accomplishments as evidenced by the work submitted for review, with the highest premium placed on coherent bodies of work. In addition to receiving cash awards, the artists take part in an exhibition hosted and organized by a visual arts institution in one of the five counties.

“One of the most critical steps in advancing and supporting the work of visual artists who live in our region is to offer additional fellowships,” said Brandi Reddick, communications and artists’ manager for Art in Public Places, Miami-Dade County Department of Cultural Affairs. “Each year, we see an increased number of applications from participating counties. This year, in response to the growing number of artists in our community, Miami-Dade County added an additional $15,000 fellowship during the 2013 cycle.”

However, it may seem like a good idea to also further the cause of the regional perspective with more collaboration and cohesive goals. “Developing a strong cultural landscape and creating a community that supports and attracts artists is an integral part of successful regional planning,” said Earl Bosworth, director, Broward Cultural Division. “It has been proven that a community rich in arts and culture offers a competitive edge for enticing investment and tourism, as well as creating jobs and economic prosperity. The arts vary tremendously in each South Florida county, providing a wonderful, eclectic mixture of artistic practices and cultural experiences.”

What’s not to support, when there is compelling artwork and diverse artists? This year in Broward County, four artists were recipients of the 2013 South Florida Cultural Consortium Visual and Media Artists Fellowships: Leah Brown, $15,000, mixed media; Henning Haupt, $7,500, mixed media; Catalina Jaramillo, $15,000, installation; and Rosanna Saccoccio, $7,500, visual art. In total, 14 fellowships were awarded in the five-county area.

The 2013 regional panel, whose selections are conducted anonymously and based solely on the evaluation of the artists’ work as evidenced by samples submitted, included Chris Cook, executive director, Cannonball (Miami-Dade); Tom Scicluna, artist, 2012

SFCC Fellowship Recipient (Miami-Dade); Chelsea Guerdat, director of exhibitions, Bass Museum of Art (Miami-Dade); Jane Hart, curator, Art and Culture Center of Hollywood (Broward); and Peter Boswell, curator, Museum of Art | Fort Lauderdale (Broward).

The submissions were forwarded for final adjudication and selection to the national panel comprised of Elizabeth Dunbar, executive director at DiverseWorks in Houston, Texas; Andria Hickey, associate curator at the Public Art Fund; and Ryan Inouye, curatorial assistant in the Department of Education and Public Programs at the New Museum, New York.

A juried exhibition, Who Am I to You?, featuring the works of the 14 South Florida regional recipients was at the Museum of Art | Fort Lauderdale this summer.

With Broward County posing as a strategically central location to this coalition, the artists and administrators look both north and south to further their impact, and to create a union of like-minded ideas for planning, in order to share creativity and funds, and increase global and economic leverage for future development.

24th Street Parklet in San Francisco, Calif.

Let's Build a Parklet

Sustainable Development Update: Transforming Spaces into Places

Last year on annual PARK(ing) Day, if you walked along Southeast Sixth Street across from the County Courthouse, or Northwest Fifth Street in FAT Village, you may have stopped to sit and chat with a friend at an outdoor pop-up space known fondly as a “parklet.” Parklets are semi-permanent decks that expand the pedestrian area beyond the sidewalk into a parking space.

PARK(ing) Day began in San Francisco in 2005 with the intent to convert a single metered parking space into a temporary public park and has grown into an annual global event. In many cities, PARK(ing) Day has evolved into a fully-fledged parklet program to convert these parking spaces on a full-time basis.

Fort Lauderdale can now proudly say we are on that list of innovative and forward thinking cities. On Aug. 20, the Fort Lauderdale City Commission approved a pilot program to allow up to 20 City parking spaces to be transformed into Parklets by adjacent business owners. Rather than a costly and disruptive total streetscape overhaul, installing Parklets is an urban-triage approach that repurposes part of the street into a space for people. They provide amenities like seating, planting, bike parking, and art.

Parklets enhance our neighborhoods by adding beauty and whimsy to the City's streets. They also reflect the City's commitment to encouraging walking and biking, creating great streets, and strengthening our communities. New Director Poised to Reestablish
Museum of Art |
Fort Lauderdale
as Nucleus of Culture

INTRODUCING BONNIE CLEARWATER

WRITER ALEXANDRA ROLAND :: PHOTOGRAPHER JASON LEIDY

Nova Southeastern University's Museum of Art | Fort Lauderdale is soaring to new precipices as of the start of the new season. This June, Bonnie Clearwater, M.A., was named the museum's new director.

"The concept of great museums lie with great universities," said George Hanbury II Ph.D., NSU President and CEO. "(We) looked for someone that would be a leader; who would not only make a great museum but integrate that museum into a great university."

Fortunately for the museum, Clearwater has roots in both. She exudes confidence in the same way she expresses her passion. Her enthusiasm is contagious and evolved.

Conjured from infancy, a thirst for knowledge of the art world drove her initial introduction to the subject. While pursuing a bachelor's degree in art history at New York University, Clearwater interned at the Grey Art Gallery of NYU where she became assistant to the director. Subsequently, she secured a position as a private curator for the collectors Leonard and Evelyn Lauder and simultaneously for the Mark Rothko Foundation. With a master's degree in both modern and medieval art from Columbia University, Clearwater established herself as a go-getting maverick, moving cross-country to Los Angeles to be the director of art programs for the Lannan Foundation and director of the Lannan Museum in Lake Worth. Clearwater split her talents between both coasts before moving permanently to South Florida.

It was 1990 on Ocean Drive. Clearwater was having lunch with a colleague who was eager to bring her to the burgeoning art scene. "I just felt there was something in the air and having known the scene and the collectors I knew that there was a moment of coalescing and I called my husband in L.A. and said we're moving to Miami Beach," she said.

The South Florida art scene caught her attention; not in an overtly conspicuous way, but subtly. Clearwater saw a developing vibrancy in the budding Miami culture that was at the time humming with art deco flair and Cuban flavor the likes of José Bedia and Carlos Alfonzo. To the rest of the art world, compared to New York and Los Angeles, Miami was a non-entity. Yet, that was empty talk to Clearwater and that talk was short lived.

"That was part of my role — bringing awareness to a scene that was developing," she said.

Named chief curator of the Museum of Contemporary Art in 1994, Clearwater validated art's sophistication by endorsing its potential and helped to put Miami on the map. With free reign and a vision of her own, Clearwater brought a diversity of exhibitions, internationally recognized community outreach programs and educational partnerships.

"She's had a great reputation of building community programs," Hanbury said. "The community knows that the museum is for them and not just a selected few."

Just 20 minutes from North Miami and 50 miles south of West Palm, Fort Lauderdale

"THIS MUSEUM HERE SHOULD BE FOR EVERYBODY, AND EVERYBODY SHOULD FEEL THAT IT BELONGS TO THEM."

has erected itself as a nucleus of culture. For a city with such vibrancy, Clearwater believes Fort Lauderdale has already been ready to carry the torch.

"What I am aiming for, with the Museum (of Art | Fort Lauderdale), is to be the central hub that will join the Miami art scene with the Palm Beach art scene and now you have a real gold coast of culture," she said.

Clearwater describes a strong connection to the sense of society that artists, patrons and collectors share. She observed this years ago visiting the museum when it first opened in 1986. To her, the area epitomizes collected creativity. She plans to tap into such a rich ensemble of expression and open up communication between artist and viewer. Increased membership, partnerships with young professional groups, and community outreach are avenues she intends to pursue. Additionally, Clearwater sees the museum as a leader in involving local businesses and bringing attention to the Downtown and Riverwalk areas.

Art and education go hand in hand. Both Clearwater and Hanbury subscribe to that philosophy, hoping that a blended marriage of these already related disciplines will take on new meaning as the museum heads toward a clear identity and focus.

Hanbury eagerly anticipates expanding students' appreciation for the arts and humanities. "I would like to integrate our academic programs and the arts and sciences into the museum for multiple academic exercises, not just in all art and culture, but the business of museums, the psychology of museums, the pure humanity of museums." He envisions this mission enveloping the immediate Fort Lauderdale and South Florida communities.

"This museum here should be for everybody," Clearwater said. "And everybody should feel that it belongs to them."

Some call her influence catalytic, even prophetic. Accordingly, the museum is setting sail on hopes that it will advance the venue as a beacon on the gold coast of culture and beyond.

Alexandra Roland has a bachelor of science degree in print journalism from the University of Miami. She is a freelance writer in South Florida.

Strut Your Stuff

A How-To Guide to Join This Year's Glam-A-Thon Fun

Glam-A-Thon's Glam Doll Strut is the self-proclaimed hippest stiletto extravaganza to hit the streets of Downtown Fort Lauderdale! On Sunday, Oct. 13, thousands of stilettoed divas and their entourages will descend on the center of the Riverwalk/Himmarshee District along Southwest Second Street. These daring teams will be wearing some of the most fashionably fabulous and innovative attire imaginable as they shake, shimmy and sashay for a celebrity judging panel and crowd of fans.

Now in its eighth year, Glam-A-Thon, a 501 (c) 3 non-profit organization, is known as a series of fun, high-energy events that increase awareness about breast cancer and provide support and hope for women. And this is the second year that Glam-A-Thon has partnered with Broward Health Foundation to help local breast cancer patients with services, including medications, mammograms, surgery, wigs and even day care for their children while undergoing treatment. Broward Health Foundation and Glam-A-Thon have helped the uninsured and underinsured with lots of things, no matter how small, which make a patient's life a bit easier.

So fundraising is key to this series of event and participants "compete" to take the crown. Glam-A-Thon states it is the only pageant in America where the "crown can be bought." This year four teams will raise enough money to be crowned Queen of Glam-A-Thon. Teams are based on the number of registered members (one to 24, 24 to 49, 50 to 99 and 100+) and the following crowns are up for grabs: Glam Queen, Ms. Fab Swag, Ms. Glambassador, Ms. Fabulosity, Ms. Glam-itude, Ms. Fashionista, Ms. Stiletto Smackdown, Doggie Diva and Pet Royalty.

Don't wait any longer to jump into this crazily fashionable event. Show your sassiness, and don't be intimidated by some of the highly organized teams that have been around a long time. Just jump in and have fun! Men are encouraged to support their divas, and children and pets are a fab addition! Have a baby stroller? Deck out your baby carriage and join us. The cost is only $45 (100 percent tax deductible) per person to join the Strut. No charge for children under 5 or pets to attend. Visit the Glam website for details (www.glamathon.com). As a former judging coordinator, I had a front row view of what inspired the judges to award these beauty pageant crowns. Teams such as the Bosom Buddies, Jolly Jigglers, Sassy Stilettos, Sisterhood of the Traveling Stilettos (from Tampa) and Sole Sisters have done the following to secure their glittery crowns:

- Whip up a creative team name: incorporate the glam theme, a pinch of breast cancer awareness and your incredible sense of humor.
- Dress to impress in fabulous attire, signage and props.
- Show your team spirit: create dance routines, chants, songs, or tastefully tacky gifts for the judges.
- Add some doggie charm: Include your favorite pooches. Several winning teams also secured the doggie tiaras!

NEW TO GLAM-A-THON 2013

Highlights of new developments and events for this year's Glam-A-Thon, according to Tammy Gail, Glam founder:

- This year, we will have a GlamMobile on the streets of Fort Lauderdale! Rick Case Fiat has agreed to become a financial sponsor of the Strut, and they are providing us with our very own, custom Glam-A-Thon GlamMobile that will hit the streets and attend our events in September and October. The GlamMobile will be designed to raise awareness of our mission and increase participation and fundraising opportunities for our beneficiary, Broward Health Foundation.

- This is the year of the Glam Man — men always express an interest in becoming more involved in our initiatives but the heels and feathers are a bit daunting. With that said, Glam-A-Thon is reinventing the way men and women think about breast cancer with the unveiling of our cool little indie breast cancer icon. The pins will be $5.

- Our kick-off party for the Glam Pins will be held at 'Stache Drinking Den on Sept. 27. Admission is $10, which includes a complimentary Glam pin and a free cocktail to support Glam-A-Thon.

- Our post-Strut party will take place at the brand new 'Stache Drinking Den (located at America's Backyard), from 3 to 5 p.m. on Oct. 13.

Over the years I have proudly documented my team Sole Sisters' journey through Facebook/Ftleslesisters. We originally banded together as sisters in 2007 from our involvement as Winterfest board members. Lisa Scott-Founds encouraged our team to support founder Tammy Gail (part of the Winterfest family) on her adventure to "kiss breast cancer goodbye."

Encouraged by Winterfest's community connections, the High Heel Hike grew into the successful Glam Doll Strut. During that time, with the bold and sassy leadership of former Team Captains and Queens Ginny Fujino, Lee Sheffield and Cathy Danielle (the Pink Trinity), Sole Sisters grew to more than 100-plus kick-ass fundraisers and five-time crown winners! How? Armed with our pink parasols, boas and custom banner, we were honored with the 2010 title Stiletto Smackdown for wearing the very best of the best shoes, the wildest heels and the scariest heights (thanks to team members Hot Pink Style). With signature team events such as Cathy's Fun-Raiser (this house party is all the rage), Timpano's Stilletos and Martinis and 2010's Hot Pink/Korbel Pier Top Soirée, this powerful team of women (and men) has raised more than $100,000 dollars for Glam-A-Thon's charity partners Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center and now Broward Health Foundation.

'So don't be shy — create your own fab team or join us on our mission to raise gobs of cash to help Kiss Breast Cancer Goodbye in our South Florida Community.'

Eclectic Melting Pot of Flavors Awaits at Kaluz

Kaluz
3300 E Commercial Blvd
(954) 772-2209
<http://kaluzrestaurant.com>

What was once the Roadhouse Grill has since been beautifully transformed into Kaluz, a “new American” cutting-edge waterfront restaurant residing at the southwest corner of the Commercial Boulevard Bridge. If you have yet to visit Kaluz, you’ll be shockingly surprised by its modern look, trendy vibe and floor-to-ceiling windows that offer patrons a crowning view from any vantage point inside the restaurant. Or if you prefer some fresh air, Kaluz also boasts a casual chic outdoor dining area with a full bar and flat screen TVs, which is perfect for boaters who’ve spent the day out on the water and want to enjoy great food at a scenic venue without feeling underdressed.

Kaluz, which opened the night of Feb. 14, serves both lunch and dinner and remains open in between. Executive Chef Michael Knapik describes the menu as an eclectic melting pot of flavors with tastes from around the world, which makes sense because owner David Baldwin is a seasoned restaurateur who has operated restaurants both nationally and internationally.

Each menu item is made fresh daily, from scratch, in order to always provide savory dishes with fresh, bold flavors. The menu remains the same for lunch and dinner, but offers an assortment of dishes ranging from flatbreads and burgers, to pastas and entrées such as the Plum Duck Confit. In order to keep regular diners on their toes and interested in the concept, Chef Knapik concocts a new special each week that is not normally found on the standard menu.

EACH MENU ITEM IS MADE FRESH DAILY, FROM SCRATCH, IN ORDER TO ALWAYS PROVIDE SAVORY DISHES WITH FRESH, BOLD FLAVORS.

We started with the Tuna Tartare appetizer (a house favorite), which is comprised of poke-style ahi tuna stacked atop a hearty bed of fresh avocado accented with sriracha swirls. It is served alongside waffle-cut potato chips. The sriracha swirls added a twisty tang that made my taste buds dance and the house-made waffle chips created the perfect crisp to accompany the delectable dish — definitely a must-try!

For an entrée, we enjoyed the Hatfield Farm Pork Chop, a double bone-in pork chop topped with Granny Smith apple chutney and finished with apple cinnamon demi-glace, served atop a bed of Parmesan mashed potatoes. The pork chop was seasoned to perfection, while the chutney created a bold fusion of flavors, which proved it to be a great accompaniment to the dish. The mashed potatoes packed an unexpected (yet delicious!) kick, which I'm told is because they're made with aged Parmigiano-Reggiano cheese. Yum!

We also tried the Pan Seared Key Largo Yellowtail topped with fresh corn salsa, tomatillo sauce and avocado cream, served over coconut basmati rice. The only other ingredient I would add to this already flavorful dish is a squirt of lime, which was conveniently served as an accent on the plate. I recommend finishing dinner off by Going Bananas and noshing on banana cake soaked in banana liqueur topped with hazelnut icing, shaved coconut, sliced bananas and vanilla ice cream.

Kaluz's contemporary décor and waterfront view offer a picturesque setting for diners to enjoy a variety of dishes that are both appetizing to the eyes and pleasing to the stomach. 60

Pairing

Hatfield Farm Pork Chop: double bone-in pork chop, Granny Smith apple chutney, apple cinnamon demi-glace and Parmesan mashed potatoes.

La Crema Sonoma Coast Pinot Noir

A perennial favorite, this Pinot Noir offers aromas of lush cherry and red plum, with subtle hints of black tea and cola. On the palate, flavors are ripe and elegant, centering on red cherry and spice with a touch of earthiness and dark chocolate.

Riverwalk Sunday Arts

Art Comes Alive in Downtown

As the first cool breeze of fall blows through, it's time to take a Sunday stroll along Fort Lauderdale's Riverwalk. And the perfect day to start is on Riverwalk Sunday Arts. Held the fourth Sunday of every month, Riverwalk Sunday Arts is a casual celebration of local art, culture and fun along the New River and at Esplanade Park. Showcasing an eclectic group of artists, Riverwalk Sunday Arts has become a destination for anyone seeking something new to do on the weekend.

"Our Riverwalk is such a jewel," said Genia Duncan Ellis, president and CEO of the Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale. "People love being outside, biking, walking or just people-and-boat watching. Riverwalk Sunday Arts adds to the mix."

Not your standard "art walk," Riverwalk Sunday Arts offers an array of art experiences, mediums and cultural fare. Jewelry artist Maria Galligan may have a table set up near Chris Cruz's paintings or Adriana Bottary's painted handbags. Teri Forero often mesmerizes patrons with her live painting mastery, allowing passersby to see art as it evolves rather than as a finished product. And fire dancer Gaby Pelatti thrills the crowd with amazing feats of fire twirling, literally creating the hottest sensation of the day.

It's not just a feat for the eyes, either. Storytellers and music and dance performers round out the range of artists. Native American percussion-ist William Ruiz and South Florida Bluegrass Association's Cliff and His Band are among the regulars.

"Riverwalk Sunday Arts is both incredibly engaging and very impromptu at the same time," said ArtServe President Jaye Abbate. "People really experience art here. They see art manifested in so many different ways; they better understand that art is more than merely a picture on a wall. The best part is that anyone can be a part of it. There is no fee for participation. No forms to fill out or judging panels to impress. All an artist must do is to contact ArtServe one week prior to the event to confirm their inclusion." And the public – all they need to do is show up! ☺

SONDRA DANE

Senior Loan Officer,
Supreme Lending

CORPORATE SUPPORTER

As a mortgage banker with Supreme Lending, I believe that Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale is a wonderful way to support the vitality of our community. I am a Fort Lauderdale native and have watched our City's impressive growth with pride. It is so different from when I was growing up attending Harbordale Elementary and Rogers Middle Schools.

Riverwalk's involvement with the Broward Center for the Performing Arts is especially important to me as a graduate of The Atlantic Foundation for the Performing Arts (right here in Fort Lauderdale). As part of The Atlantic Foundation, I performed in many ballets and musicals from Parker Playhouse to New York City; therefore I go to Broward Center as often as possible. Enjoying all of Riverwalk goes along with the theatrical experience!

With more than 26 years of experience in the mortgage industry, it is my goal to help my clients realize their American dream of homeownership. From a first-time homebuyer to a seasoned investor, I provide home loan financing from $50,000 to $2,000,000. I was also recently interviewed as a mortgage expert for the video series "Homeownership Matters" by the National Association of Realtors.

I am very active in the community. I am a past board member and a current advisory board member for the Winterfest Boat Parade. I am a board member of the Corinthian Condominium. I truly enjoy the Fort Lauderdale lifestyle.

APRIL KIRK

Executive Director,
Historic Stranahan House

CORPORATE SUPPORTER

I love Fort Lauderdale. Born at Broward General and raised on the edge of the Everglades, I have seen the wonderful transformation of this City over the years. I have the honor of serving as the executive director of the Historic Stranahan House Museum in the heart of Downtown. Every day I get to come to the most beautiful spot in Fort Lauderdale and share the story of the birth of the city and the family who helped to create it. I get to see the excitement of school children as they learn about the lasting legacies of Frank and Ivy Stranahan.

I cannot wait to see what wonderful things we as a community will accomplish next: expanding our neighborhoods, preserving our history, nurturing our delicate ecosystem and incorporating more art into everything we do.

When I am not working to preserve our history, I serve as a board member of the Flagler Community Garden, Canine Assisted Therapy, and the Association of Fundraising Professionals. I also give my time to help LifeNet4Families to feed and support the working poor and homeless. Late at night, I only have to travel to the other side of the river to get home (where is Frank Stranahan's ferry when you need it?!) I get lost in a stack of comic books or in creating one of my own pieces of art. One day I hope my artwork can be featured in FAT Village or along the Riverwalk.

MOLE TELFER

Manager, Business Development,
MHG Insurance Brokers

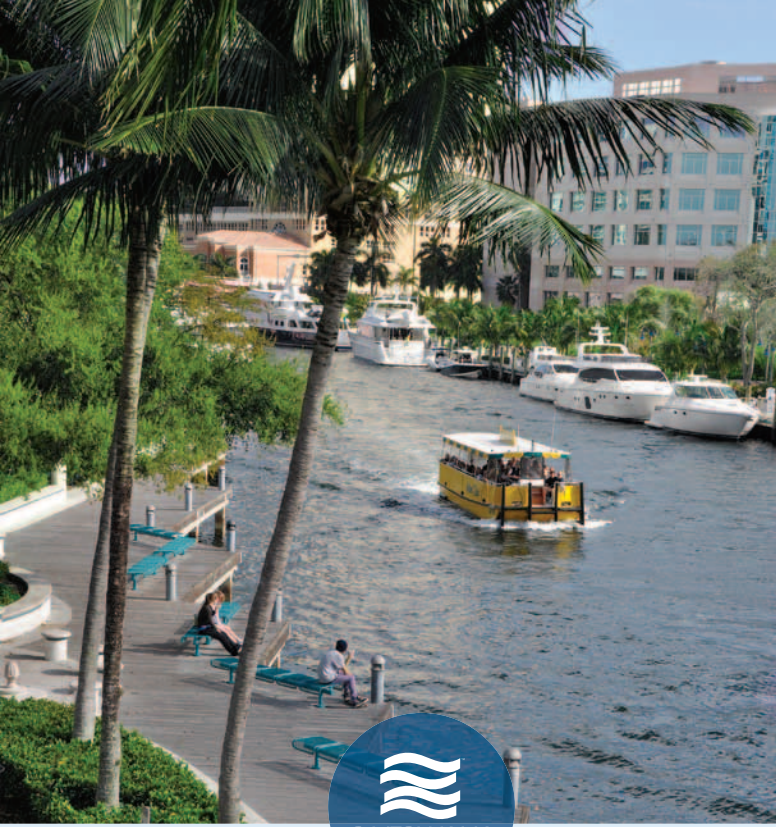

CORPORATE SUPPORTER

I am the business development manager for MHG Insurance

Brokers, a full-service insurance brokerage assisting clients with life and health insurance, health care reform guidance, employee benefit solutions and business insurance. I am fortunate to be a part of such a dynamic group of service-minded professionals who not only have the experience and expertise, but also have access to multiple insurance carriers to help clients find the right plan.

One of the reasons I was attracted to MHG was their strong belief in the value of philanthropy, which fits nicely with my role with the Marine Industry Cares Foundation, where I serve as president and chairman. The Marine Industry Cares Foundation aims to provide a brighter future for children and families by uniting the generous efforts of the marine and local business communities. Since 2009 we have raised more than $500,000 for Kids in Distress and the Children's Diagnostic and Treatment Centers, two amazing organizations that are doing great things in our community. Through my work with the foundation, I have had the pleasure of working with Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale, which has been a great supporter of the foundation and the host of our annual Spin-A-Thon.

I am passionate about community involvement! In addition to my founding role in the Marine Industry Cares Foundation, I am a board member of the Children's Diagnostic and Treatment Center and an advisory board member of the Winterfest Boat Parade.

Riverwalk Heads to the Water On 2013 Summer Social Cruise

Photos by Jason Leidy

Through the generous donation of James Campbell of Riverfront Cruises, Riverwalk hosted the Summer Social Cruise aboard Anticipation IV on a beautiful Friday evening.

Treated to great food, drinks and music, the 120 guests, complete with a film crew from Eye on South Florida, cruised the New River and Intracoastal Waterway to celebrate summer and the weekend. The requested attire was flip flops, shorts and T-shirts that made a statement ... and many did just that! Riverwalk is very fortunate to have such great partners with Riverfront Cruises and Eye on South Florida. @

To shed new light on the Riverwalk, the City of Fort Lauderdale Engineering Department has supervised the design and installation of new lighting. Begun in May and finished in August, the project aimed to give the Riverwalk a vibrant atmosphere to improve its experience, safety and use. The lights were composed to satisfy the new building codes, including the replacement of the old metal lighting poles with concrete pre-stressed electric poles. Sunshine State Electric of Florida, Inc. has been contracted by the City to do this work, while City crews did a portion of the work.

In December 2013, Riverwalk will celebrate its 25th anniversary. To commemorate the occasion, each month Go Riverwalk Magazine will showcase one of the many public enhancements that has been made along the two-mile stretch of brick walkway along the New River in Downtown Fort Lauderdale.
