Riverwalk and Our Publication Continue to Grow

September brings the change of seasons to many, and for us at Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale and Go Riverwalk Magazine it marks the next steps along our path. Completing 25 years of service to the community with oversight of the Riverwalk and a large variety of plans, projects, events, municipal issues, physical plant and more and as guardians of the walk — and to completing 10 years of an evolving publication known as Go Riverwalk Magazine — we want you to know there is more to come.

With this edition of Go Riverwalk Magazine, we are growing both in size and distribution and adding more departments with information important to our readers. We present our new face with the help of our stable of gifted writers, photographers with an eye for just the right view of a subject, and our creative team that makes certain that we put our best foot forward. Thanks to our Executive Editor, Lynn Peithman Stock, who is the gatekeeper and somehow manages a varied group of talents, and to Jamie McDonnell, Publisher and Ryan K. Hughes, Associate Publisher, and the publishing team that makes this all happen, we thank you for your creative gifts, attention to detail, and understanding our product as a charity producing a magazine. From the incubation of Go

An earlier version of Go Riverwalk Magazine. This issue is from April 2009.

Riverwalk as a newsletter to the robust magazine offered today, the list of those that made this happen is long. At the end of the day, the village has raised the bar for this publication and we think we are ready for that challenge. 🌱

MISSION STATEMENT

“To be the catalyst in building and nurturing Riverwalk as a vibrant community connected by the New River”

PHOTOGRAPHY BY JASON LEIDY

Let the Season Begin

RIVERWALK FORT LAUDERDALE WELCOMES NEW BOARD MEMBERS

From Riverwalk's perspective, our City's "season" opens with Riverwalk formally celebrating its first quarter century and Go Riverwalk Magazine its first decade when we host a private event at the Broward Center for the Performing Arts.

Equally important (to us), on Oct. 1, Riverwalk will seat its new board of directors comprised of individuals who have committed themselves to guide Riverwalk in its mission: "to be the catalyst in building and nurturing Riverwalk as a vibrant community connected by the New River."

It is therefore the perfect time to welcome the "cast" of community leaders who will comprise the 2014-15 board of directors, and equally important, the ideal opportunity to thank our retiring directors for their valued contributions to Riverwalk.

Riverwalk extends its heartfelt appreciation to retiring directors: Randall Vitale, Dan McCawley, Ken Keechl, Lee Sheffield, Jennifer Desir-Brown and Erin Sutherland for their service on the Riverwalk board and looks forward to hearing about their respective new ventures. Note: Dan McCawley, we are not suggesting more children.

At the helm of the Riverwalk board for the upcoming year is Gregory Oram, who will assume the role of chairman of the board. Gregory has devoted himself to Riverwalk as an executive committee member and chair of the membership committee and we know will provide great leadership to the board as it kicks off its next 25 years.

Joining the Riverwalk board as new members for the upcoming year are: Roger Craft, Jim Dunn, Jim Ellis, Ann Marie Fox-Mancuso, Skeet Jernigan, J. Michael Marshall, and Margarethe Sorensen, who will bring new skills and ideas to Riverwalk.

They join returning board members: Chuck Black, Kevin Blair, Lacey Brisson, Alexandria Brown, Mark Budwig, Ron Centamore, Connie Chaney, Gage Couch, Cathy Davis Danielle, Dave Dawson, Pat Demos, Bob Dugan, Jeff Falkanger, Jacqui Hartnett, Frank Herhold, Michelle Klymko, Chip LaMarca, M. Kevin Lawhon, Connie Loewenthal, Lynn Mandeville, Steven Marcus, Jenni Morejon, Lou Muzi, Chris Pizzo, Richard Rodriguez, John Ropes, Micki Scavone, Barbra Stern, David Tabb, Steve Tilbrook, Doug Tober, Josh Vajda, Jerry Vogel, Michael Wild and Chris Wren.

So as the City's season "kicks off," please join us in both celebrating our anniversaries, and welcoming our incoming directors.

See you on the river.

Activating the Riverwalk

EXPLORE DOWNTOWN TO SEE WHAT'S NEW

Summer is at its end, fall is speeding this way and with it, our interns are back to school. Clarissa Buch, a highly regarded Miami-Dade County Silver Knight winner this year, has been our office intern and a writer throughout her entire senior year of high school and is off to the University of Missouri as a freshman. Carolina Guardabassi, a rising sophomore at Elon University in North Carolina, shared her skills as a writer and office intern this summer along with Jarod Crush, a rising junior at Cardinal Gibbons High School. They were a delight and great help and certainly put a different perspective on subjects keeping us all up to date.

A number of routine happenings occur weekly and provide activation to the Riverwalk area:

- Cardio Mix Training, in its fourth year, has a strong following and continues to meet twice weekly and is guided by Josh Hecht.

- Paddleboard Riverwalk operates Saturdays and Sundays each week from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. for guided tours and rental. Night tours and lesson are available as well.

- Segway tours are available daily along Riverwalk including training and guided tours.

intermediate and Masters Dog training.

- Soon you will have the ability to grab a bite at food kiosks around the Bubier Park area from early morning through the afternoon. These additions should be in operation this fall.

- Informational kiosks are also being readied and will soon be out in public to help share information from our Downtown partners and keep you up to date on happenings in the area, directions to restaurants, bars and retail, and help you enjoy many of the amenities of the A&E District.

- The Riverwalk Water Trolley is anticipated to kick off in early fall with six stops along the route — three on each side of the New River Downtown along Riverwalk. This new addition is long awaited by Downtown residents and workers and will be a great new way to travel Downtown. Operation and oversight will be provided by the TMA and City of Fort Lauderdale.

- The long awaited Ambassador program is scheduled to begin shortly and we believe that with these new faces on the street, the addition of kiosks for information and food, the sustainable daily and weekly events and volunteers along Riverwalk, a strong movement toward positive activation in Downtown will continue.

In addition to these changes we welcome Patricia Zeiler as the new Executive Director to the Fort Lauderdale Historical Society, and Robyn Chiarelli as Executive Director to the Transportation Management Authority — great partners in the Downtown and with Riverwalk. 60

MARKET PRESIDENT, AND
BUSINESS BANKING MARKET
EXECUTIVE, BROWARD
COUNTY, BANK OF AMERICA

• Born and raised in Fort Lauderdale, I take great pride in our community's growth and evolution in becoming the Venice of America. This has been the place where my husband and I have raised our family as well as where I have served the entirety of my professional career at Bank of America. Fort Lauderdale is simply home.

As a native and stakeholder in our community's success, I am proud to work for a company that holds its civic responsibility among its highest priorities — and part of our goal is to make the financial lives of our customers and clients better. Bank of America has, through predecessor banks, been an integral member of Broward County for more than 100 years. Organizations such as Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale play an important role in shaping our community's vision and helping make that vision a reality. They help bring the public and private sectors and the Downtown community together to ensure our Riverwalk, the center of our arts and entertainment district, remains economically viable and strong.

• I have been in the automobile business for more than 40 years. In 2005, I accepted the vice president and general manager leadership role of South Florida-based JM Lexus, the No. 1 Lexus dealership in the world for more than 20 years. Additionally, JM Lexus has repeatedly earned the coveted "Elite" in customer satisfaction designation due to its consistent commitment to providing world-class service to every customer who walks through the door. At JM Lexus, I lead a team of associates who are focused on innovation and always looking for ways to do things better. The dealership is known for its high-tech business practices, environmental initiatives, and community involvement. Recently, the dealership added solar panels to its roof and installed a nine-hole putting green for customers while they wait for their vehicles to be serviced. I was born in Chicago Heights, Ill., where I grew up, and I attended Prairie State College. When not attending the many philanthropic events the dealership supports, I enjoy boating, fine dining, sporting events and time with my family.

PRESIDENT, DYNAMIX CLOUD SERVICES

• Downtown Fort Lauderdale has been home to me for the past 12 years. I relocated my technology company from Michigan. Most people overlook South Florida as a location to grow a technology company and I'm glad I didn't. Since I made the move, Dynamix has grown exponentially thanks to our loyal customers and support from the local community. Companies choose Dynamix because of the quality of our service, our staff, our competitive cloud-based products, and our private global network. Dynamix has offices in San Francisco, Amsterdam and Hyderabad, but Downtown Fort Lauderdale is and will remain home to our global headquarters. My relationship with Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale started several years ago as office neighbors and quickly evolved into much more. Being part of Riverwalk has enabled me to become more involved with the local community, giving back to those by coaching small businesses on how to compete with technology and serving on the board of the Flagler Village Community Garden. I enjoy participating in Riverwalk sponsored activities.

DISTRICT MANAGER,
PROPERTY MANAGEMENT,
STILES CORPORATION

• I am a district manager with Stiles Property Management, which includes managing Stiles' headquarters located on Las Olas in Downtown Fort Lauderdale. I have had the proven track record of establishing and maintaining professional relationships in the community and with professionals in the commercial real estate industry. I was born in Manhattan, N.Y., but I gained prior experience in property management, leasing and asset management in Orlando, Atlanta, and Chicago. I have been with Stiles in South Florida for the past 10 years.

I have had the privilege to represent Stiles as a board member of Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale for a couple of years and it provides a rewarding sense of pride. It is a great organization to be involved with, and I get to see the difference it makes in our community. I support Riverwalk because it gathers the public, business owners, and customers around shared passions, and strengthens our community.

The original NSU campus on East Las Olas Boulevard in 1964 (inset)

IT ALL STARTED WITH A STOREFRONT, 17 STUDENTS, AND A DREAM.

As different thinking and new ideas were sweeping the country in the 1960s, a group of forward thinking businessmen was bringing its own sort of radical change to higher education in South Florida. "The Oatmeal Club" gathered regularly for breakfast, and during those meetings resolved to create a world-class educational institution in the South. And from our humble beginnings in a storefront at 232 East Las Olas Boulevard in 1964, Nova Southeastern University (NSU) has grown into the ninth largest private university in the nation today. Through research developments, the achievements of our alumni, a deep commitment to community service, and a $2.6 billion economic impact, NSU touches the lives of nearly everyone in Florida and beyond. We're proud to celebrate the past 50 years, and look forward to all the future holds.

In 1977, NSU's original Oceanographic Center was a humble houseboat (bottom) but today includes a stunning 86,000 square-foot facility (top) dedicated to coral reef research, the only one of its kind in the United States.

Getting Involved with Riverwalk

A RECAP OF ALL THAT WE DO

FROM THE MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE

Riverwalk is Fort Lauderdale's most beautiful mile — a winding waterfront walkway linking attractions and cultural resources. It is beloved by our residents and visitors alike.

Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale was founded by the City of Fort Lauderdale and incorporated as a not for profit organization — 25 years ago! Among the first duties of Riverwalk was the sale of signature bricks installed along the newly built Riverwalk. To date, more than 40,000 bricks have been etched with personal messages and tell the stories of our residents and visitors.

As the park has matured and a community grown up around it, Riverwalk has come of age in furtherance of our mission to “be the catalyst in building and nurturing Riverwalk as a vibrant community connected by the New River.”

Today, Riverwalk members focus on key initiatives:

Advocacy

The Riverwalk Master Plan and Projects committee advocates for a better Riverwalk: participating in planning, smart growth and green initiatives for the Park and our urban core.

Activation

Riverwalk hosts happenings encouraging the public to “come to the River.” Daily, one can find cardio classes, Segway tours, dog training, paddleboarding or yoga. Events such as Get Downtown, Burger Battle™, Smoke of the Water BBQ Feast and the Stone Crab and Seafood Festival bring thousands to the Riverwalk to enjoy!

Communication

Getting the community message out is what we do! Via our web and social media presence and Go Riverwalk Magazine, we provide up-to-date information about projects, trends and happenings in our Downtown. THE NEW FACES OF
DOWNTOWN

The Private Security Consultants comprise a wide array of experienced security professionals.

Last summer I visited the West Palm Beach DDA to learn about their programs and one of them was their wildly successful ambassador security program. I was amazed at the high level of effectiveness — how Downtown West Palm had gone from a place stigmatized by crime, to the inviting, vibrant and safe place it is today. They credited the Private Security Consultants (PSC) with the turnaround. Now Fort Lauderdale's DDA has decided to implement its own similar pilot program.

The PSC Ambassadors assess the community's needs and patrol a designated area. The pilot program will start in the Downtown core along Southwest Second Street and Andrews Avenue to the Las Olas Shopping District and down to the County Courthouse. The PSC Ambassadors focus on assisting those who need help (with directions, information, or anything else) and addressing any nuisance activity. Interaction with the public is vital to what PSC does and key to keeping Downtown inviting and safe. PSC provides security guard service to approximately 100 malls, government municipalities, hotels, private communities, and other government facilities, and has operations across the United States. They also provide security services to the federal government and to Fortune 500 companies. More than half of their directors have prior experience as law enforcement officers, in the U.S. military and with fire departments.

Adding PSC to the Downtown mix is something the While Fort Lauderdale's finest is busy solving bigger crimes, any nuisance issues in Downtown will have the ambassadors to focus specifically on those activities.

Fort Lauderdale Police Department supports, too. While Fort Lauderdale's finest is busy solving bigger crimes, any nuisance issues in Downtown will have the ambassadors to focus specifically on those activities. The police department will act in concert with PSC so that they can communicate with each other about Downtown activity. PSC will collect data, monitor its progress, and collaborate with the police department, DDA, the City of Fort Lauderdale, and Flagler Village Improvement Association — the lead partners funding the endeavor.

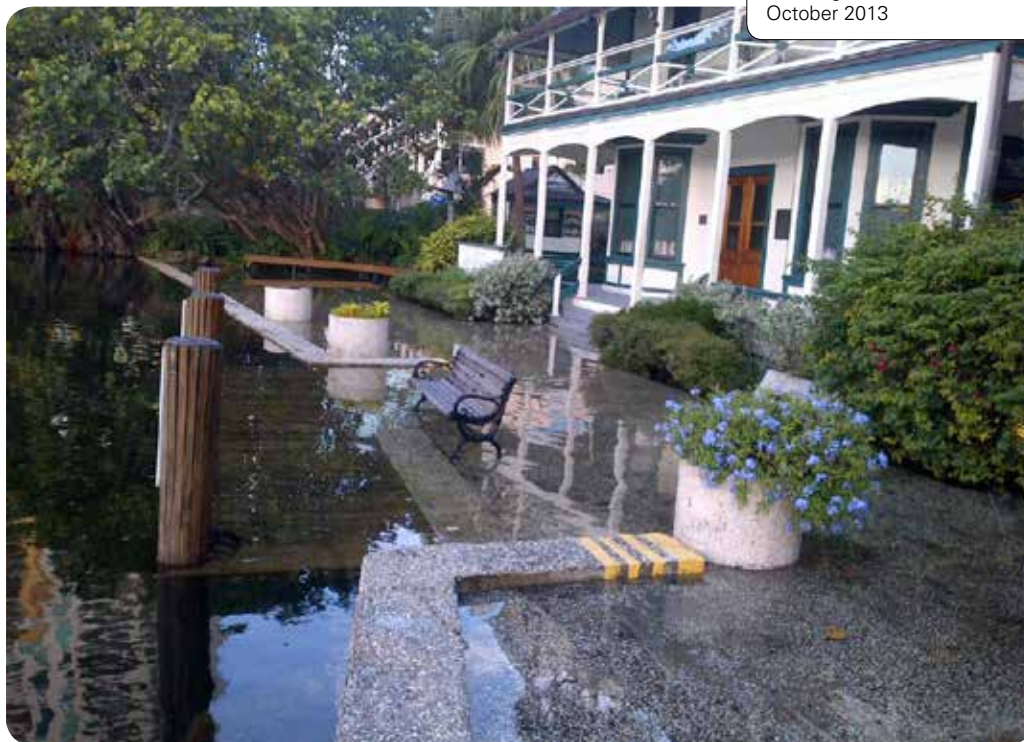

The new ambassadors will act as the veritable eyes and ears of Downtown. So the program is not just about security, but also outreach and public relations. They serve as the face of Downtown and will help set a tone of welcoming hospitality. This was a huge asset to Downtown West Palm Beach, which was fighting an image problem of being unsafe. Since the arrival of the ambassadors, crime has reduced by half and visitors are flocking to the area. A year from now, I look forward to reporting the same kind of success for Downtown Fort Lauderdale!

property; renters can insure possessions.

The City of Fort Lauderdale participates in the National Flood Insurance Program to provide city residents with the initial qualification to purchase flood insurance. The City also participates in FEMA's Community Rating System program to enable our residents to qualify for lower flood insurance premiums.

On Aug. 18, new FEMA Flood Insurance Rate Maps went into effect. Several thousand properties in Fort Lauderdale will be added to,

Riders On The Storm

FORT LAUDERDALE'S EFFORTS TO DECREASE YOUR FLOOD INSURANCE RATES

One of the top priorities identified in the citywide vision is to be a resilient community. We've been fortunate for many decades not to have had a direct hit from a hurricane, but the flooding that occurred during the Halloween 2011 rains and the impacts from Superstorm Sandy two years ago remind us that the possibility of flooding exists with every major storm. Fortunately the City of Fort Lauderdale is dedicated to minimizing storm related damage and keeping your flood insurance rates as low as possible.

Blessed with 165 miles of navigable waterways, seven miles of beautiful beaches, and our prized jewel — the Riverwalk, water is all around us. Our beloved amenity can also be our biggest enemy. Most homeowners' insurance policies do not cover property losses due to floodwaters, making the separate purchase of a flood insurance policy a must for many property owners. Since all areas are susceptible to varying degrees of flooding, all property owners should consider purchasing a flood insurance policy, even if it is not mandated for their location. If you do not have valid flood insurance, contact an agent immediately. Property owners can insure or removed from, the Special Flood Hazard Area based on these new maps. If you are a local homeowner, the new maps may affect your need to purchase flood insurance, as well as the cost of your annual premium. If you haven't already checked to see if your property's flood zone designation changed, I encourage you to use an online interactive map viewing tool to find out if your home or business is in a flood zone or if the base flood elevation of your property has changed.

Thanks to the City's cross departmental team of community builders, we currently implement numerous proactive activities that reduce our local flood hazard and earn our neighbors a 20 percent discount on their insurance rates. With the implementation of the new flood maps, we are also adopting higher regulatory standards for future development. Examples of these higher standards include imposing certain limitations on enclosed areas below elevated buildings, requiring the lowest floor of buildings to be at least one foot above the base flood elevation to be consistent with the Florida Building Code, and prohibiting the use of fill to elevate buildings and structures.

Updating our building standards in anticipation of future climate conditions will facilitate critical adaptation measures, and bring us closer to achieving our vision of being a stronger and more resilient community.

If you would like more information on the City's flood damage protection efforts, please contact the Department of Sustainable Development at (954) 828-6520.

issue of Go Riverwalk Magazine, the new lighted crosswalk at Las Olas Boulevard and Southeast 13th Avenue, and the reconstruction of A1A north of Sunrise Boulevard are examples of these initiatives, to name just a few. More transformational projects are on the horizon as well, including the Wave Streetcar.

Connecting the Blocks

MAKING IT EASIER TO WALK, BIKE, TAKE TRANSIT AND DRIVE YOUR VEHICLE SAFELY

We all want to be able to get out of our cars more, be able to walk or bike to get where we need to go to be healthier and enjoy our fabulous South Florida climate, but it is not always as easy as it appears. There may not be a crosswalk or even sidewalks along our route, there may not be a transit line that is convenient to our needs, or there might not be bike lanes or racks where we are going. Or we may not feel safe being on the street alongside vehicles with drivers who aren't paying attention, speeding and violating traffic laws that are there to protect walkers and bikers.

During the City's recent community visioning process, Fast Forward Fort Lauderdale 2035, our neighbors came out overwhelmingly to say that they see the Fort Lauderdale of tomorrow as a city where you can choose to walk, bike, take transit and drive your vehicle safely and easily throughout a connected network of streets.

Construction has already begun on projects to transform Fort Lauderdale into our vision for the future with new connections for bicyclists, pedestrians and transit as well as improved safety for all users of the roadway. The painted intersections on Las Olas Boulevard featured in the July a safe and connected community requires more than just engineering measures — they need to be partnered with other components such as education and enforcement. In the Bicycling and Walking in the United States 2014 Benchmarking Report produced by the Alliance for Biking and Walking, Florida has the highest rate of pedestrian fatalities in the country and is ranked in the top 10 worst states for bicycle fatalities, as well. Dangerous by Design 2014, produced by Smart Growth America, identifies Florida as holding the top four spots for most dangerous metropolitan areas across the country out of 51 locations with the Fort Lauderdale/Miami/Pompano metro region coming in fourth.

A paradigm shift across sectors is paramount to making the kind of change necessary to make our streets a place where everyone feels safe, no matter which form of transportation they choose, and that there is a choice. The focus must change from moving vehicles to moving people. The City is partnering across departments and agencies to supplement the engineering projects with educational campaigns and high visibility enforcement operations in targeted locations.

With our children returning back to school, now more than ever, it is critical that each one of us make safe choices. Yield to pedestrians at crosswalks and intersections when they have the walk light, share the road with bicyclists and give them three feet, don't text and drive and obey the speed limits, and take extra caution while traveling through our neighborhoods. Working together we are making Fort Lauderdale the safe, multimodal city of tomorrow.

Summer is Over

BUT THE FUN DOESN'T HAVE TO STOP

As I write this column for September, summertime in Fort Lauderdale is still in full swing. Just walking from the car to lunch at Café Europa, I could have sworn the pavement was almost melting beneath my feet with every step.

While school has started for many Fort Lauderdale families, the afternoon monsoons of July and August do not just stop with our Labor Day picnics and backyard barbecues. For moms like me, that means that after school afternoon plans in early autumn require a weather eye to the skies. Bike rides to the park are cut short, swim time with neighborhood friends ends with the first crash of lightning, and the kids look to us with that “now what?” look.

What to do? Luckily, even with the tropical waves still rolling through our community, Fort Lauderdale has just the right options for families and anyone looking for fun now this fall. Just bring your umbrella in case! Certainly the Riverwalk is always a go-to spot for daytime fun and evening strolls. Is there anything that says “Fort Lauderdale” more than a relaxed afternoon along the New River? If you haven’t parked your car, left the hustle and bustle of commuter traffic behind and turned off your phone as you listen to the wind rustle the palms and the toot of the boat horns as they navigate our Downtown bridges, you are missing the best parts of our city.

On a day when work keeps coming at you, try a five-minute stroll to the Riverwalk to recharge your batteries and become inspired again. Of course, the Riverwalk is not just a place to relax even in the middle of the day, because there is always a festival right around the corner. Whether it is SunTrust Sunday Jazz Brunch the first Sunday of every month at Riverwalk Park with the coolest local jazz musicians, Bacon Bash on Oct. 3, when everything bacon takes over our Downtown, Smoke on the Water BBQ Feast returning on Oct. 11, or Riverwalk Mutts and Martinis on Nov. 7, there is something fun for everyone, just about every weekend. And what’s really exciting is that Go Riverwalk, the City and Sun Trolley are teaming up to bring a continuous “water trolley” service so you can easily get from one side of the New River to the other!

In November, things really get going with Light Up Fort Lauderdale — a ten-week celebration of glittering holiday lights and holiday cheer, that only a Grinch could resist. And if you are looking for one of the best and biggest cocktail hours around, Riverwalk’s Fall Get Downtown comes our way on Nov. 20.

So just because summer is ending, it does not mean the fun has to end. Downtown Fort Lauderdale it the place to be during the week, after hours or on our fabulous Florida weekends. See you there.

A More Beautiful you!

Dr. Messa & Staff, I am very grateful for the excellent work and beautiful results. Thank you for being an excellent team, always willing to help and with a smile.

CLASSICAL CORNERSTONES

Getting Up Close and Personal with
Our Symphony, Opera, and Ballet

WRITER SAMANTHA ROJAS

As we head into the season of snowbirds and culture, it's a good time to look at some of the classical cornerstones of Broward County's arts and cultural repertoire. SOBs, as they are called — Symphony Opera Ballet — have found a solid place in Broward County because the Symphony of the Americas, Miami City Ballet, and Florida Grand Opera are thriving, international, multi-talented operations that produce world-class performances year after year.

For a county halfway between Palm Beach and Miami-Dade counties, this infusion of classical expertise elevates Broward into more than just another place to live. It's a destination location — a strategic stop, for more than its irresistibly blue water line and warm, sandy coast. Symphony, opera and ballet have their creative roots in the Italian Renaissance 1400s and 1500s. Broward County in the 21st century is rich with these historic sopranos, sonatas and dance, offering them to visitors and residents in remarkable seasons of performance.

Florida Grand Opera

In 1994, Greater Miami Opera Association and Opera Guild, Inc., of Fort Lauderdale merged to form Florida Grand Opera. Beginning in 1948, performances in Fort Lauderdale were presented at the War Memorial Auditorium until the opening of the Broward Center for the Performing Arts in 1991. The opera's founder, Arturo di Filippi, regularly brought leading artists from the Metropolitan Opera to South Florida, presenting them in the roles for which they had won worldwide acclaim. A 1965 production of "Lucia di Lammermoor" with Joan Sutherland featured a young Italian tenor, Luciano Pavarotti, in his American debut. From its distant origins in 1400s Italy, opera began to flourish in South Florida, and Broward County was very much a part of it.

In the fall of 2013, Susan T. Danis, FGO's general director, opened her first season with Marvin David Levy's "Mourning Becomes Electra," and closed with Jules Massenet's "Thaïs," continuing the history of excellence and diversity in this world-class organization. "Madama Butterfly," "Cosi fan tutte," "The Pearl Fishers" and "The Consul" will be the jewels of the 2014 season. www.fgo.org

Symphony of the Americas

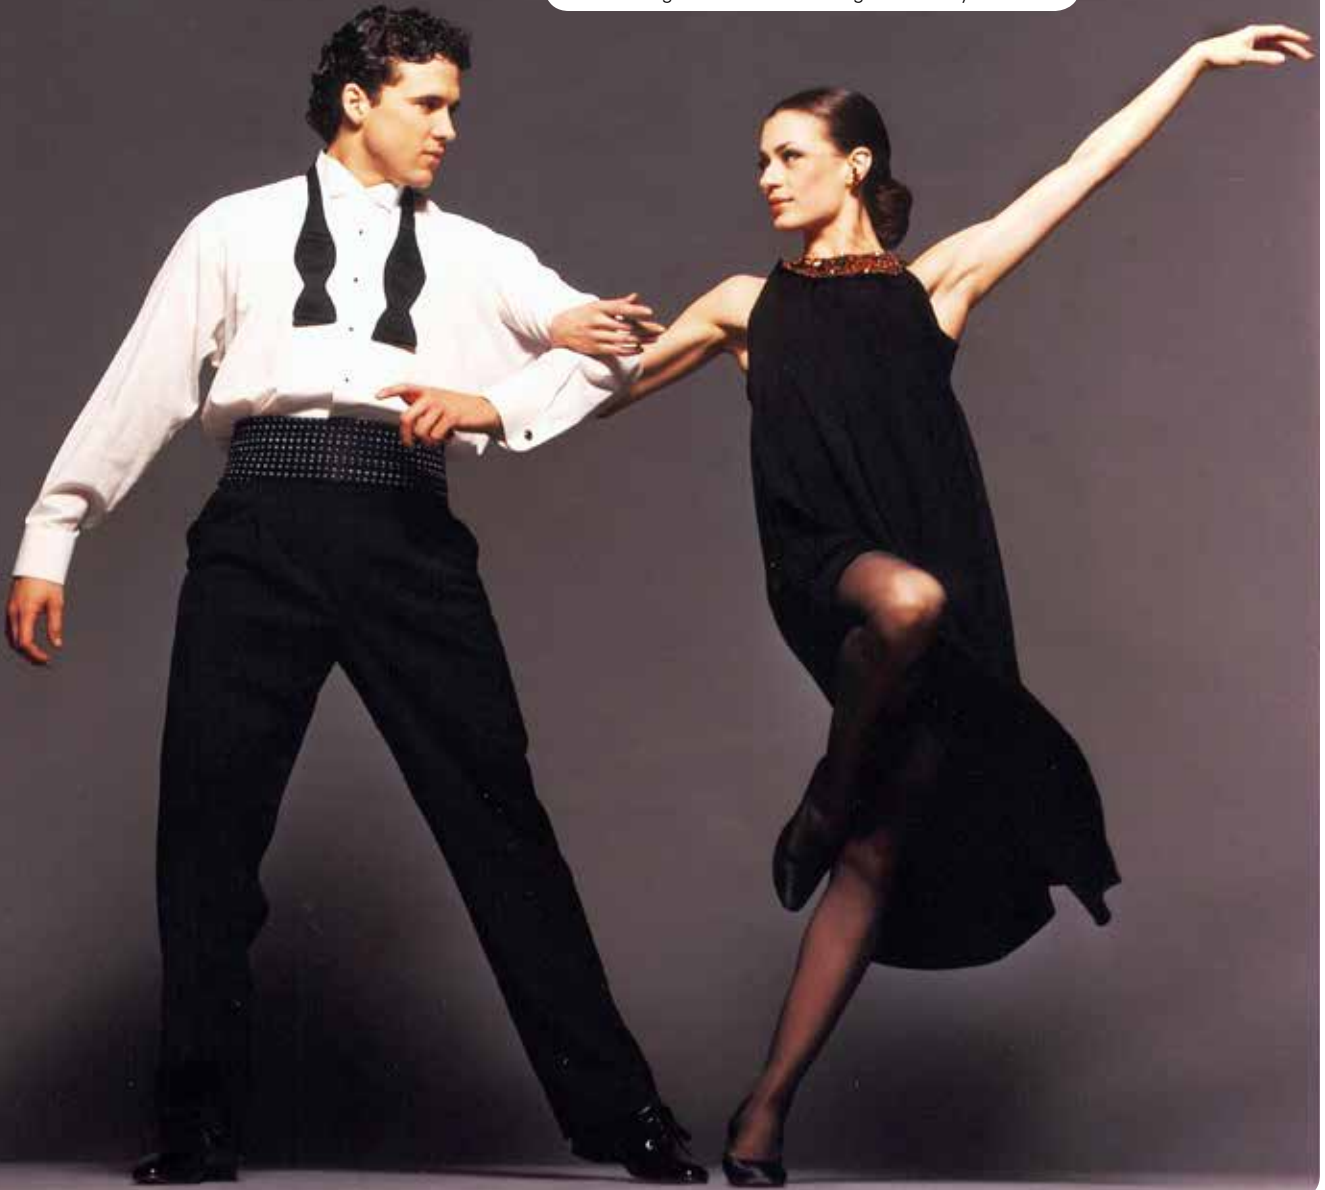

Symphony of the Americas has been South Florida's premier orchestral organization for more than 25 years, and the Broward Center for the Performing Arts is its performance home base. Operating with a balanced budget for its entire lifespan, this organization is dedicated with an award-winning maestro, James Brooks-Bruzzese.

Committed to South Florida's multi-cultural population with an inventive approach of combining classical music with other forms, its international outreach program, Summerfest, marks its 22nd year this summer with visitors from Rome. In the past, performances and master classes have been presented in every country of Central America and encompass world-class orchestral artists, ballet soloists, classical Mexican mariachi, pulses of tango, mesmerizing acrobats of the Cirque de la Symphonie, the drama and intensity of opera, Broadway, pops, and the rhythms of Spanish zarzuela.

The Symphony's Serenades@Sunset series offers smaller musical ensembles in concert, in a more relaxed setting. The symphony's free outdoor pops concerts throughout the season offer a perfect outing for families and friends. Symphony programs serve audiences of more than 25,000 annually.

Miami City Ballet

Miami City Ballet is today the eighth largest ballet company in the United States, by budget size. It contains 46 dancers with a budget of approximately $15.5 million. Under the artistic direction of Lourdes Lopez, the company makes four counties in South Florida its home, Broward, Miami-Dade, Palm Beach, and Collier. With a repertoire of 100 ballets, performances showcase a number of world premieres which include George Balanchine's masterworks and works by contemporary choreographers such as Paul Taylor, Twyla Tharp, Jerome Robbins, Christopher Wheeldon and Trey McIntyre. The company also performs classical works such as "Giselle," "Coppélia," "Don Quixote," and "Romeo and Juliet." Internationally, Miami City Ballet has performed in Europe, Great Britain, South America, Central America, and Israel.

With an international mix of dancers who come from the New York City Ballet, Boston Ballet, National Ballet of Caracas, National Ballet of Cuba, and American Ballet Theatre, among others, Miami City Ballet attracts an annual viewing of almost 20,000 for its million-dollar holiday spectacular, "George Balanchine's The Nutcracker."

Miami City Ballet's 29th season opens this October with audience favorites "George Balanchine's The Nutcracker," "Romeo and Juliet" and "Nine Sinatra Songs" along with company premieres of "Richard Alston's Carmen," "Jerome Robbins' The Concert" and a groundbreaking collaboration between choreographer Justin Peck and visual artist Shepard Fairey. www.miamicityballet.org

A NEW WAY OF CRUISING

Take a Segway Tour to Explore Riverwalk and Downtown

WRITER CLARISSA BUCH • PHOTOGRAPHY JASON LEIDY

Downtown Fort Lauderdale is known for its great restaurants, beautiful homes, vivacious community, and now has a new attraction:

Segway tours along the New River.

I didn't know much about Segways before I took Fort Lauderdale's latest excursion. The only thought that came to mind when I heard the word "Segway" was that ubiquitous mall cop we've seen rolling around local shopping centers on such a scooter.

Now if I hear the word, dozens of things come to mind: gorgeous homes, million-dollar yachts, picturesque neighborhoods, and a one-of-a-kind experience.

Segway Fort Lauderdale takes the first-time Segway rider and turns him or her into a pro. I had no experience before stepping on the scooter, and while it was daunting at first, I quickly learned that it's really not that hard.

Before the tour began, Jon Rosen led us through a 15- to 20-minute training session. I learned everything from speeding up to quickly stopping, and twirling around in circles, to get familiar with the ride. In just a short amount of time, I felt confident enough to take my skills around Downtown.

Rosen, founder and owner of Segway Fort Lauderdale, explained that being able to try something a little more adventurous and feeling the thrill of conquering a fear is what makes the tour that exceptional.

I can now vouch for that.

I would not consider myself the risk-taking type, so jumping on a Segway was a challenge. The scooter registers body motion, so when you're on one you feel as if you've added wheels to your body, which can come off as terrifying.

However, with Segway Fort Lauderdale, it takes less than five minutes to become a scooter expert. I learned how to balance, make sharp turns, accelerate to its top speed of about 12 miles an hour, and slowly come to a stop, all the while cruising through Downtown's scenic areas.

Jarod Crush and Clarissa Buch take a spin on a Segway along the Riverwalk.

Jon Rosen, right, leads a training session on the Segway.

During my one-hour tour, I saw the largest skyscraper in Downtown, rolled by some of the most famous yachts in the New River, stopped by the historic Stranahan House, and traveled through the Rio Vista residential area, all while putting my new Segway tricks to the test. Before returning to Rosen's home base near Riverfront Cruises, we stopped for a quick break.

I can honestly say that while I was scared at first, Rosen made my first Segway experience fun and extremely gratifying. I was able to see a different, more personal side of Fort Lauderdale as I wheeled around town.

Segway Fort Lauderdale also offers two-hour tours that cover all of the above and a journey over the 17th Street Bridge, where you can overlook Downtown, the beach line, and the Port Everglades all at once.

The two-hour tour generally covers about 10 miles, while the one-hour tour I was on covers about five. Rosen also has Segway tours in Hollywood and Boca Raton.

Regardless of which tour you choose, Segway Fort Lauderdale is a must-do activity for residents and tourists alike. Rosen has taken just about everyone on a tour, including a 92-year-old man. Rated the sixth best thing to do in Fort Lauderdale by Trip Advisor, I guarantee that this fun-filled activity is something you will remember for a lifetime.

Besides seeing the beautiful landscapes and familiarizing myself with all that Downtown has to offer, I have to say the best part of the tour was when Rosen handed me a card saying I was "mall cop certified."

So what are you waiting for? Call Segway Fort Lauderdale and book a tour so you too can become "mall cop certified" and experience Downtown in a whole new light. www.segwayfortlauderdale.com

RIVERBOAT CRUISING

Liberty Belle Sets Sail Along the Riverwalk

WRITER CAROLINE GUARDABASSI • PHOTOGRAPHY JASON LEIDY

A piece of the Northeast has just drifted through Port Everglades and we are so happy to have caught it. The Liberty Belle paddlewheel riverboat is the newest and largest addition to Marine Hospitality's fleet, which includes the sightseeing Riverfront Cruises boat and the Anticipation IV and Anticipation V private charter yachts. The Liberty Belle will also be used primarily for private charter events such as weddings, private parties, corporate parties or other special events. Able to carry 600 passengers and coming in at 140 feet long, the Liberty Belle is the biggest charter yacht in South Florida right now.

Built in Chester, Penn., the Liberty Belle began its journey south when it was bought at auction in August 2013. To date, about $1 million has been spent on renovations with another $1 million planning to be spent on other enhancements such as fresh carpeting, wall coverings, furniture, and remodeled bathrooms. The Liberty Belle has now made its home in Fort Lauderdale and first announced its arrival with a July Fourth Fireworks Cruise for its maiden voyage, which hosted passengers of all ages.

Current owner, James Campbell, was first interested in the riverboat because of its iconic style and traditional design. Campbell says that he feels the Liberty Belle is a great addition to the current fleet because it would bring a “tranquil and genteel experience” to canal cruises. Complete with an open deck, seating, bars, dance floor, and best of all, air conditioning, a cruise aboard the Liberty Belle is a trip into the past with the comfortable amenities of the present. Despite lacking the iconic paddlewheel spinning on the back of the boat, few or no riverboats actually utilize the paddlewheel as a propeller anymore and instead are equipped, like the Liberty Belle, with diesel engines that do most of the work. At the end of July, the Liberty Belle hosted Riverwalk

Fort Lauderdale for its Summer Social Cruise, which benefitted Riverwalk Fort Lauderdale, the Fort Lauderdale Women’s Club, Rebuilding Together Broward County, Covenant House Florida, Children Diagnostic and Treatment Center, and the Stranahan House Museum.

The Liberty Belle has found its home in Fort Lauderdale and is bringing back some tradition to our waterways. It is the “type of boat that operated here for many years,” Campbell said. ©

The Back Story

AUTHOR ELAINE VIETS WORKS BEHIND THE SCENES
TO DIG UP DETAILS FOR HER BOOKS

WRITER KEVIN LANE

National best-selling author Elaine Viets turned to mystery writing after a 25-year career as a newspaper reporter and syndicated columnist. Then came her own annus horribilis — her husband was diagnosed with cancer, the stock market crashed and took the couple's savings with it, and the publisher, for whom Viets had been writing a series, cancelled its mystery imprint.

To help make ends meet, Viets took a job as a bookseller at Barnes and Noble. "I learned that people treat an underpaid clerk differently than someone making a hefty salary," she said. She kept notes and used the experience for her second Dead-End Job series book, "Murder Between the Covers," which took place at a fictitious independent bookstore. The main character, Helen Hawthorne, loves the job but wishes — prophetically — that someone would murder her dreadful boss.

CATNAPPED! AUTHOR ELAINE VIETS

When the series began, Helen was on the run from her unfaithful ex-husband, to whom a judge had promised one-half of her future income. Rather than hand over a dime, she went on the lam and found employment in Fort Lauderdale, taking a different low-paying job in every book.

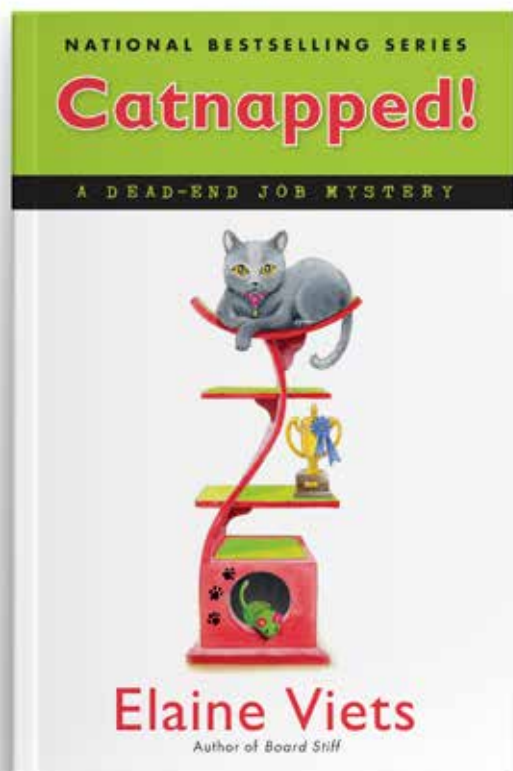

"When I worked at Zola Keller on Las Olas for 'Just Murdered,' I noticed that weddings created intense emotions — love, hate, anger. Zola had to be a diplomat to handle the brides and their families."

Things have changed for Elaine ... and Helen Hawthorne. For the first ten books, Helen Hawthorne was on the lam hiding from her no-account husband and had to take those dreadful minimum pay, dead-end jobs. But, romance bloomed and she married Phil Sagement and they opened a private detective agency in Fort Lauderdale.

Helen is no longer on the lam and co-owns a private investigation business, but Viets still does in-depth research on the jobs presented in the books (now undercover gigs for Helen). For "Catnapped!," Viets worked with a director of the Cat Fanciers' Association and even learned how to wash longhaired show cats. "A cat bath starts with Goop — the hand cleaner — and includes two shampoos, a conditioner and, if it's a white cat, a blue rinse. Then the cats are dried with a special dryer," she explained. "I'm grateful I have self-cleaning cats."

In Catnapped! Fort Lauderdale celebrity socialite Trish Barrymore's no-account accountant husband Mort Barrymore, is found dead. Their pedigreed Chartreux show cat goes missing and even though there is a ransom note for $500,000 by the catnapper, Trish is the main suspect. Helen and Phil are on the case. And another catastrophe looms. Their home, Coronado Apartments in Fort Lauderdale, is slated for a teardown when Margery, their landlady, is arrested for murder one.

These days, Elaine is making special appearances, working on her next Dead-End Job book, and her newest book in her equally successful series Josie Marcus Mystery Shopper.

Kevin Lane is a publicist, photojournalist and event photographer who also presents lectures on historic and self-empowered people.

GLAM-A-THON INTRODUCES
NEW INITIATIVES THIS YEAR

Now in its eighth year, Glam-A-Thon strives to keep fresh its approach to raising participation and funds for breast cancer awareness in South Florida.

"We understand the importance of keeping Glam-A-Thon relevant and exciting by developing creative outlets to engage our followers while attracting new fans," said founder Tammy Gail. "This year promises to be the most spectacular yet with the launch of our Lipstick Lounge event on Sept. 12 at the fabulous Gallery of Amazing Things in Dania Beach, the quasi-art gallery, museum and extraordinary event venue, followed by the inimitable Glam Doll Strut on Oct. 18 at the stunning Riverwalk in Downtown Fort Lauderdale, and the finale will be the HYPE Council's costumed Decades Party on Oct. 23, exclusively at VIBE on Las Olas Boulevard. These three events are on everyone's radar as the IT events of the year."

While cocktails, cosmetics, confections and couture remain the hallmarks of Glam-A-Thon's events, there are a few new initiatives:

- SAVE A BOOB: Every $150 raised can buy a mammogram for uninsured and under-insured patients of Broward Health Medical Center hospitals. Entry into the Strut is only $45, which includes a limited edition 2014 Glam-A-Thon signature tote bag. We are challenging each participant to raise at least $150 dollars through Oct. 18.
- THE NEW GLAM PIN-UP CONTEST, created by Suzanne Barton Photography. Local women and men in the community have a chance to explore their inner pin-up in our very first Glam Pin-Up contest. Each dollar raised equals one vote. The person with the most votes will receive a brand new award at the Strut naming them 2014 Glam Pin-Up. www.glam-a-thon.com/pinup/
- GLAMMY AWARDS: An inaugural event during the first hour of Lipstick Lounge on Sept. 12 at the Gallery of Amazing Things, recognizing the philanthropic rock stars in our community. To date, the recipients of this award are: Maria Brous, Publix Super Markets, Dawn Stagliano, Comcast, Jen Klaassens, The Wasie Foundation, Charlotte Taylor Mather, Broward Health, Nicole Covar, Clear Channel Communications and WSVN's Deco Drive.
- THE HYPE COUNCIL (Headquarters for Young Professional Engagement), which is Glam-A-Thon's under-40 arm. "The goal of HYPE is to encourage young professionals to become actively involved in our efforts to help the local community," Gail said. HYPE plans its signature Decades Party at Vibe on Oct. 23. Marti's New River Bistro

A NEW DINING EXPERIENCE TAKES CENTER STAGE AT THE BROWARD CENTER

WRITER JACQUI HARTNETT

Blending tropical and nautical décor with modern touches, Marti's New River Bistro at the Broward Center for the Performing Arts offers new American cuisine with indoor and outdoor seating on the New River in Downtown Fort Lauderdale.

For theater guests, prix-fixe dinner seating begins two and a half hours prior to curtain for each evening performance. Prix-fixe dinner tickets can be purchased along with show tickets at BrowardCenter.org.

Marti's is also a great place to gather after a performance for post-show drinks, dessert, coffee and conversation.

And soon, visitors to the Riverwalk area will have another transportation option along the New River — the Riverwalk Water Trolley. Beginning this fall, it will stop at three locations on each side of the river daily — for free. Riders will be able to cross the river and reach points between Riverwalk Laura Ward Park at the Cheesecake Factory and the Broward Center for the Performing Arts. More details to come.

For dinner and weekend brunch, Marti's promises guests a memorable experience from the moment they arrive at the theater. Valet or self-park the car, and Marti's, located in the Broward Center's new Huizenga Pavilion, is steps from the AutoNation Box Office. What's more, when they have finished dinner and show time is approaching, they will find easy access to the theater via the new Palmer Passage.

If they are not attending the theater, they can still enjoy the distinct Fort Lauderdale flavor of arts and entertainment on the New River. Marti's offers an à la carte dinner menu after 8 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays, as well as Saturday and Sunday brunch from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Menu items range from fresh Florida fish with papaya salsa and Moroccan lamb tagine as main entrées, to Southern fried chicken and waffles or red velvet pancakes for brunch.

This new dining experience opens Oct. 5 on the New River in Downtown Fort Lauderdale.

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT...The Burger and Duck Fat French Fries, Mexican Style Sweet Corn on the Cob, Charcoal Grilled Chimichurri Angus Skirt Steak, Saffron Summer Blossom Cocktail, Patio Seating and Bar, Lobster Popcorn drizzled with Lemon Truffle Honey.

Sweet Nectar offers creative small/share portions with divine concoctions, wines and craft brews in a creative and comfortable setting. Sustainable materials and reclaimed wood line the decor at Sweet Nectar.

In the Kitchen

Executive Chef and Mixologist Peter Cumplido with Chef Rafael Vasquez have created this trendy Las Olas neighborhood outdoor bar and grill that is a hot spot on the boulevard. Hand crafted cocktails, small plates and family style selections encourage sharing and allow you to taste an array of flavors and textures. Their unique robata grill adds char grilled goodness to their dishes.

This past spring they nabbed the Most Unique Festival Dish at the Las Olas Wine and Food Festival for their Lobster Popcorn drizzled with lemon truffle honey paired with the crunchy Mexican Style Sweet Corn on the cob. Their fresh Roasted Brussels Sprouts are charred with kimchee vinaigrette with a hint of spice. These crispy sprouts go well with the Charcoal Grilled Chimichurri Angus Skirt Steak and Grilled Chipotle Mustard Glazed Salmon.

The Burger: prime, chuck, and short rib blended into a very juicy, well-seasoned burger topped with crispy smoked bacon, a dab of sweet onion jam imparting a honey flavor and crunchy coleslaw on a fresh onion bun. Add the duck fat French fries (trust me on this one!).

At the Bar

Handcrafted cocktails are Sweet Nectar's specialty. Chef and mixologist Peter Cumplido's experienced palate combine some of the best single batch spirits in the world with local and seasonal ingredients. My favorite is the Saffron Summer Blossom mixed to perfection with 44 North's Sunny Slope Vodka Nectarine infused with saffron honey syrup, orange and ginger extracts with a splash of Ginger wine.

Feeling adventurous? Try the Ancho Apple with Montelobos mezcal, ancho reyes chile liqueur, apple celery syrup and a splash of Dr. Brown's celery soda in a mason jar rimmed with smoked sea salt.

Homemade Desserts

From the creative dessert menu we selected the warm, chewy and luscious deconstructed Apple Pie consisting of tart apple compote and homemade cinnamon ice cream in mason jars with strips of fried doughnut crust. Dangerously good. We couldn't resist the

WILLIAM HILL CHARDONNAY

The 2012 Napa Valley Chardonnay was made from a mix of grapes grown in the cool Carneros and warmer St. Helena American Viticultural Areas. Ripe tree fruit and heady notes of baked apple are supported by layers of caramel, brown spice and toasted oak flavors. This wine has a rich palate and silky mouthfeel, with moderate sweetness and a long, lingering finish.

tableside s'mores, which arrived with a mini grill, a Hershey bar (request a second one), graham crackers and marshmallows. Goody fun. The table next to us ordered the Chocolate Croissant Bread Pudding, served warm and complemented with rich peanut butter fudge ice cream. The Cocktail Renaissance Today's mixologists, aka "Bar Chefs," are committed to crafting cocktails that display rich, vibrant, and unique flavor profiles using fresh squeezed juices, fruits, shrubs and hand-picked herbs. Cocktails are hand-shaken to icy perfection, representing today's culinary approach to the art of the cocktail.

Hard Rock Café Introduces Twists on Classics

The Air Mexico, a trio of margaritas, allows guests to choose three flavors including Mango, Watermelon, Cucumber, Blue Curacao, Pomegranate or Wildberry and is served with chips and house made salsa.

The Red Berry Press is a fruit infused cocktail made with fresh hulled and sliced strawberries, raspberries, lemonade, lemon-lime soda and Clementine Vodka served in a coffee-press style vessel.

Drink Exchange

Two new bars give new meaning to trickledown economics. They are designed to create a dynamic environment where drink prices change based on demand.

The Stox Bar,

21 W. LAS OLAS BLVD.,
FORT LAUDERDALE

Like a stock market, prices go up and down depending on demand but never get higher than any other bars, so you'll save money on cocktails. When a cocktail is popular, its price increases and you may turn to cheaper drinks, which will make the price of the popular cocktails decrease as their popularity shrinks.

Bull Market

210 S.W. SECOND ST.,
FORT LAUDERDALE

Craft beers and selected cocktails are displayed on a television screen featuring a moving price structure based on popularity. The concept is designed to keep customers engaged in the ebb and flow of the market while enjoying some tasty beverages at great prices.

WGA (World's Greatest Amaretto) Sour

World's Greatest Amaretto from the creative team at 3J Hospitality is another example of a cocktail using unique flavors. This hand-crafted WGA (World's Greatest Amaretto) Sour is available at Stache 1920's Drinking Den.

Try this at home — below is my favorite version of a classic sour:

RECIPE:

2 ounces amaretto	In a shaker filled with ice, add all of the ingredients and shake until chilled. Strain into an ice-filled glass on the rocks glass. Top with a lemon peel and cherry.
3/4 ounce bourbon
1 ounce fresh lemon juice
1 ounce simple syrup

It's Out of This World

BLACK HOLES: SPACE WARPS
AND TIME TWISTS NEW EXHIBIT OPENS
AT MUSEUM OF DISCOVERY AND SCIENCE

Pull yourself into the world of black holes — the Museum of Discovery and Science presents the new traveling exhibit Black Holes: Space Warps and Time Twists, opening Sept. 20 at noon.

Black holes are considered some of the most strange, mysterious and powerful objects in the universe. Black holes, first anticipated by Albert Einstein, have such a strong gravitation pull that not even light can escape its powerful grasp. In this new exhibit, Black Holes: Space Warps and Time Twists will pull visitors in to the modern search for real black holes.

Through a combination of hands-on physical models, computer-based investigations, immersive experiences, and a technology-assisted learning environment, visitors can make sense of the weird ideas behind black holes, and examine the evidence to weigh for themselves whether black holes have moved from the realm of science fiction to the status of reality. Throughout the exhibition, visitors will be assisted by the video guidance of both professional and teen-aged “Black Hole Explorers.”

This exhibit was developed by professors and scientists at the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics. Its interactive stations address a number of questions, such as: What is a black hole? Where are black holes? How do we find black holes if they are really black? What would happen if you fell into a black hole? One exhibit station allows visitors to experience their own black hole adventure.

Ford Motor Company is partnering with the Museum of Discovery and Science to bring Ford $5 Days to the Museum on Sept. 20 and 21. On these dates, visitors only pay $5 exhibit admission per person to spend a day exploring hundreds of dynamic exhibits. The museum is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays and noon to 6 p.m. on Sundays. ©
